Covington Staff Works to Keep Your Sewer Rates Low

The Covington village staff continues to work on plans to renovate the 35 year old wastewater plant. As part of these renovations Covington is required by the Ohio EPA to evaluate the extra water flow that enters the sanitary system during rain events. EPA regulations require that Covington size the wastewater plant to completely treat all water that flows into and through the plant. This includes the increase in flow during storm events. With this in mind, we are asking for your help.

As a village resident we are asking you to check your spouting drains and sump pumps to be sure they are not connected to the village sanitary sewer system. Eliminating sump pumps, spouting drains, and storm water from our sanitary sewer system helps Covington avoid spending extra money on unnecessary sewer plant expansions, and on the treatment of storm water in our sanitary sewer system. If you have questions about eliminating sump pumps or storm water from the sanitary system, please call the Government Center. Village staff will gladly assist you in checking your sump pump or spoutings to be sure they are properly connected.

By working together, we will eliminate storm water from the sanitary sewer system, avoid unnecessary sewer plant expansions, and keep your monthly sewer bill as low as possible.

Covington Holiday Schedule
